
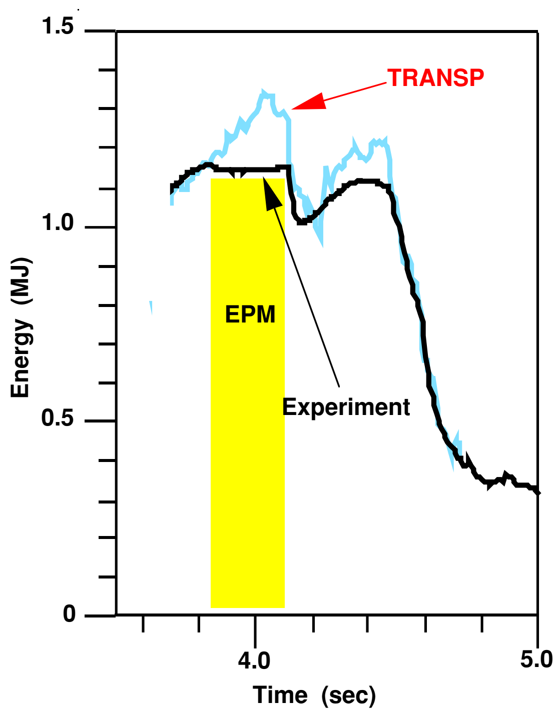

Figure 9. Comparison of the measured and TRANSP-computed stored energy for the conditions of figure 5. The stored energy falls below that computed when the EPMs begin, indicating that they are primarily responsible for the losses of the fast ions.